FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

GENESIS MEDICAL IMAGING PROMOTES EXECS TSCHIRN, HOOPER
FOLLOWING VP RON RAGAN'S DEPARTURE
*'Clear vision, new opportunities for expansion,' CEO Dakessian says

HUNTLEY, IL (July 6, 2009) – Two senior leaders widely recognized in the imaging industry were promoted today to executive positions at Genesis Medical Imaging, Inc., following the resignation June 24 of vice president and co-founder Ron Ragan.

Wayne Tschirn, an industry veteran with Comdisco, Inc., Philips Healthcare and Business Development and Implementation LLC before joining Genesis in 2008, has been named vice president of operations. He previously served as national service manager.

Cliff Hooper, a career-long logistics leader with the United State Air Force, Hughes Aircraft Company and Innoserv/R Squared, has been appointed vice president of logistics for the CT and MRI supply and service company. He has been logistics director since joining the company last year and is taking on expanded responsibilities.

"Genesis has a long history of hiring and promoting some of the most talented people in our industry to better serve our customers," said Robert Dakessian, president, CEO and founder. "As we see again today, that commitment is ongoing. Wayne and Cliff are outstanding executives."

Ragan's departure will not affect the company's sales, operations or strong customer relationships, said Dakessian, who will manage the transition.

“There were philosophical differences about the best ways to grow the company,” Dakessian said. “While the company will miss Ron’s enthusiasm, our executive team is deeply experienced and extremely well positioned to continue our positive growth trends. Ron’s departure will allow several talented individuals to spread their wings.”

Genesis has demonstrated a strong record of sales growth, even in a rough economy. “We have a clear vision and new opportunities for expansion,” Dakessian said. “We are pleased to provide the cost-effective equipment and services that are right for hospitals and imaging centers in North America and abroad.”

Genesis Medical Imaging is the largest independent service organization to offer a total solution for CT and MRI needs, including nationwide service contracts, mobiles, refurbished CT & MRI equipment, cryorefrigeration and magnet services. Visit www.genesismedicalimaging.com.
